Susa Vilkki is a European Patent Attorney at Papula-Nevinpat.

She has extensive experience in IPR from both private practice and industry, and has developed a deep understanding of how IPR can be successfully used to support business operations.

Susa provides effective support to companies and their business areas, with special expertise in aligning IPR strategies with business objectives, protecting commercially relevant inventions with patents, conducting patent database searches, analysing IPR and patent risks, giving IPR-related statements, prosecuting oppositions and appeals, enforcing IPRs, and acting as a technical consultant in patent litigation.

She works with a diverse client base, including large corporations as well as SMEs, start-ups, research institutes, and universities.
