Johanna Menna is a trademark specialist at Papula-Nevinpat. She is mainly responsible for assisting in trademark and domain prosecution and infringement matters, communicating with officials and clients, updating our database and keeping track of due dates. Johanna is also a member of our company's Legal Team Russia.

Johanna earned her degree of Bachelor of Business Administration from the Helsinki Business Polytechnic, Helia, in 1996. She has worked in a variety of roles here at Papula-Nevinpat. For instance, she successfully managed business critical data migrations, including various database ETL tasks, and has been responsible for developing and organizing our assistant work and training employees. Johanna started her career at Papula-Nevinpat for more than 20 years ago. She has long and wide experience in IP matters, particularly in the differences of patent and trademark processes in various countries and systems.
